Covering Letter

To Whom It May Concern:

I am an independent, ambitious man who has much more to offer than what can fit on a resume. My ability to fit in with any environment drives me to work well under pressure. I have excellent interpersonal and communication skills. I am quick thinking and a fast learner who can cope with almost any situation.

My greatest asset is the willingness to go well beyond my job description, which means I always put in more than is expected. I pride myself in my commitment to success and my determination to reach that success.

I enjoy challenges as these allow me to see how far I can push myself. My true success I determine by how well these challenges have been met and achieved.

I enjoy working in the web development industry and one day become a stand-alone full stack web developer

Closing Comments

I thank you for taking the time to review my CV. I trust I would be deemed a suitable candidate for a position in your company.

In return I promise to be cordial, loyal and confident in order to complete everything to the best of my ability.

Thank you
